Daily Guidance Files

This series consists of materials concerning the routine activities of the Office of the Press Secretary during the year 1990.

Some of the more noteworthy materials in this series include memos from Michael J. Boskin, President George H. W. Bush's chief economic advisor; press guidance in the form of possible questions and answers on such topics as Iraq's invasion of Kuwait; and handwritten notes, possibly written by Marlin Fitzwater. Internal memos regarding proposed strategies on how to use the press to get more public support for Bush (especially in the case of the Persian Gulf crisis) can also be found in these papers. Other subjects covered at considerable length in the records include the Soviet Union's confrontation with the Baltic states (Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania), the question of Israeli settlements in the occupied territories, the use of Latin American countries to help the U.S. in the war on drugs, the need to make headway in cutting the deficit, and Bush's environmental policy.

Daily Press Briefings Files

This series consists of transcripts of briefings given to the press by White House or agency officials. Most of the transcripts are of briefings given by Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater. Fitzwater's briefings covered general announcements (upcoming meetings, schedule, trips) before proceeding to domestic and foreign issues of interest for that day. Typically, briefings to the press progressed in a question-and-answer format.

Other briefings given by government departments or agencies usually addressed a specific event (such as a head-of-state visit) or issue that directly involved the department giving the briefing. Occasionally, such briefings were called "background briefings." On such occasions, members of the press were forbidden from naming the briefing official in their stories and were only allowed to refer to that person as "a senior administration official." These briefings also progressed in a question-and-answer format.

Friday Follies Files

This series consists of a weekly packet of political cartoons assembled under the masthead "Friday Follies." Generally, the "Friday Follies" consist of cartoons that parody individuals in state and federal government and discuss other highly publicized leaders and controversial issues in the U.S. and abroad. These political cartoons are of an editorial nature intended to raise public consciousness of serious issues and are presented in a funny, somber, witty, or sometimes sarcastic manner. An occasional news summary may be found among the assembled photocopies.

Issues covered include government spending and the deficit, the conflict between recognition of Israel and Palestinian independence, the nuclear arms ban, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), U.S./Soviet relations, the Reverend Jim Bakker, embassy sex scandals, the savings and loan (S&L) crisis, Jack Kemp and Housing and Urban Development (HUD) mismanagement, the Exxon Valdez oil spill, Chinese democracy, ethics, the war on drugs, the Paris Economic Summit, abortion, and funding of the Nicaraguan Contras.

The political cartoons were taken from newspapers and journals, including the "Chicago Tribune," the "Cincinnati Inquirer," the "Atlanta Journal-Constitution," the "Baltimore Sun," the "Boston Globe," the "Washington Post," the "Miami Herald," and the "Los Angeles Times," among others.

News Summary Files

This series contains copies of newspaper and journal articles and editorials; electronic news media printouts (from sources such as Scripps Howard News Service, Reuters, and the Associated Press); "Foreign Media Reaction" reports by the U.S. Information Agency; and a collection of news updates. These were printed by the Office of the Press Secretary under the masthead "The White House News Summary." Each news summary is subdivided into five categories: Trip News, International News, National News, Network News, and Foreign Media. Sources for the summaries and excerpted articles include the "Washington Post," the "New York Times," "USA Today," the "Los Angeles Times," the "Wall Street Journal," "Copley," the "Chicago Tribune," the "Dallas Morning News," the "Boston Globe," "United Press International (UPI)," and "Reuters," to name a few. Information was also gathered from the ABC, NBC, and CBS television networks.

The series also includes press releases, including statements by the president, and press briefings distributed by the Office of the Press Secretary. Additionally, there are transcripts included in the series of interviews and panel discussions conducted by various network television correspondents. An occasional "Friday Follies" is also included among the records.

Press Briefings Files

This series consists of transcripts of briefings given to the press by White House or agency officials. Most of the transcripts are of briefings given by Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater. Fitzwater's briefings covered general announcements (upcoming meetings, schedule, trips) before proceeding to domestic and foreign issues of interest for that day. Typically, briefings to the press progressed in a question-and-answer format.

Other briefings given by government departments or agencies usually addressed a specific event (such as a head-of-state visit) or issue that directly involved the department giving the briefing. Occasionally, such briefings were called "background briefings." On such occasions, members of the press were forbidden from naming the briefing official in their stories and were only allowed to refer to that person as "a senior administration official." These briefings also progressed in a question-and-answer format.

Press Office Foreign and Domestic Trip and Schedule Files

This series consists of two subseries: the Trip Files and the Trip Schedules. The Trip Files consist of materials dealing with President George H. W. Bush's trips both inside and outside the United States. Although not an exhaustive listing, the series does document many of the major foreign sojourns of the chief executive and provides an account of most of the appearances he made in the final months of the 1992 campaign. Included in the records are background briefings, press releases, pool reports, schedules, manifests, transcripts of interviews and press conferences, speeches, travel vouchers, and trip compilations with fact sheets and other relevant data.

The Trip Schedules contain trip itineraries for President Bush. A selective recounting of the years 1989-1990, these records have schedules for a number of the overseas trips covered in the Trip Files. Included in the records are brief notices to the press that usually describe changes in the travel arrangements of the president.
